

Terrorism is a burning global issue worldwide and its link with mental health is an oft-discussed topic. The viewpoint section of this issue provides a brief glimpse on this aspect and we shall come up with more detailed analyses in subsequent issues. The review article on somatization in children discusses another frequently encountered clinical problem by mental health professionals and discusses approach to diagnosis and management. In addition, we have two original research articles dealing with socio demographic profile of alcohol dependent subjects and factors related to post-ECT confusion. I hope our readers shall find this issue interesting!

SUJIT SARKHEL

Hony. Editor